Detailed Project Description and Justification:

The request for capitol funding is described as follows:

The new Behavioral Health Services Treatment Center recently built by Alaska Family Services is located half way between Palmer and Wasilla, Alaska. Many of the clients both youth and adults have transportation needs in order to fulfill their treatment plans. Part of the request for funding is to purchase a new passenger van. The existing one has well over 100,000 miles and is over 10 years old.

The second part of the request is for new furniture for the Treatment Center. Due to expansion into additional behavioral health programs there is a need for furniture for the additional group (treatment rooms) and counselor offices.

Finally, a security fence is needed to separate local residential properties from the Center.
